Amatullah has really changed after I decided to make her experience these enriching sessions at Express Learning. My daughter started identifying things with her closed eyes which was really seeming impossible for all of us. Firstly she has become an extremely positive person in comparison to the way she would behave before. She would always say no to everything but this positive attitude made her believe in herself and that is reflected in her behavior. She can also memorize answers faster and also remember them for a longer period of time. Plus her listening skills have developed a lot as she can listen more attentively to others. This was not the case before. The biggest asset that she has developed is her self-confidence. She has become fearless while answering in the class in front of others. Her right brain has opened up which has made her more creative overall. There were certain subjects in her college in which did not find interest in. But after this training, she has developed her interest even in the subjects which she found boring before. Another important change is that she can control her anger much better. Plus there are lot of internal changes in her tremendously. The price of this training is very less in comparison to what we got as her development. Every parent of this information age should try this brain technology.
